

Trust — Who I'm Becoming

Verse 1

I've been holding tight to every plan I make,
Trying to see the end before I take the step.
But the road ahead was never meant that way,
Some things are learned by walking in faith.
What if becoming starts with letting go,
Of needing the answers before I know?

Pre-Chorus

Maybe the first step isn't seeing the way,
It's believing I can change.

Chorus

Trust is taking the next step,
Even when I don't know how it ends yet.
It's letting go of control in my hands,
Believing You're working out a better plan.
Trust is moving forward with hope alive,
Knowing growth begins the moment I try.
I don't need to see it all to begin—
I just need to trust where I'm stepping in.

Verse 2

I'm learning You believe in me more than I do,
That You placed this calling deep in within
It's not just trusting You to lead the way,
It's trusting the strength You are in me.
Every habit I'm building, every choice I make,
Is opening doors I'll see someday.
The work I'm putting in now,
Is becoming the future I'm walking toward.

Pre-Chorus 2

The process isn't wasting time,
It's shaping who I'm becoming inside.

Chorus

Trust is taking the next step,
Even when I can't see what's coming next.
It's believing growth is already at work,
Even when progress feels uncertain.
Trust is choosing faith over fear,
Moving ahead when the way's unclear.
I don't need proof before I begin—
I just need to trust who I'm becoming.

Bridge

You've been guiding every step I've made,
Even when I thought I'd lost my way.
You've been cheering me on through every doubt,
Calling out the best in me, drawing it out.
I'm starting to see myself through Your eyes,
Not who I was—but who I'm becoming in time.

Final Chorus

Trust is action, not standing still,
It's choosing to move with courage and will.
It's knowing the prize isn't just the view,
It's who I become by following You.
As I trust, I change, as I change, I rise,
I step into the life You've designed.
I take the leap, I let faith begin—
Trusting who I'm becoming is the greatest win.

Outro

So I start now...
With one brave step.
Trusting You're ahead of me...
And trusting who I'm becoming.