

Purpose — The Power Within

Verse 1

I know the climb is never just the view,
It's every step that shapes what's true.
Every doubt I face, every wall I meet,
Is teaching me who I'm becoming beneath my feet.
There are days I question why I'm here,
When the summit feels far, the path unclear.
But something deeper keeps calling my name,
A steady fire that never fades in the flame.

Pre-Chorus

When the mountain feels heavy and the road feels long,
I don't climb on strength alone.

Chorus

Purpose is the reason I rise each day,
The why that pulls me when the climb gets steep.
Purpose is the light when the way feels dark,
The truth that keeps my heart beating.
When my legs are tired and my hope feels thin,
I let the why inside carry what I can't lift.
Purpose reminds me who I am becoming—
And why this climb is worth it.

Verse 2

Purpose is the core of all I do,
It turns my effort into something true.
It leads my actions, steadies my pace,
Brings me clarity when I lose my way.
I'm not climbing for a moment or a name,
I'm climbing to become who I'm made to be.
Every habit built, every sacrifice,
Shapes a life aligned with what matters inside.

Pre-Chorus 2

When the noise gets loud and doubt draws near,
Purpose brings the path into clear view.

Chorus

Purpose is the reason I rise each day,
The why that pulls me when the climb gets steep.
Purpose is the strength I lean into,
When the journey asks more of me.
When exhaustion whispers, "This is enough,"
The why reminds me why I keep going on.
Purpose anchors me through every season—
It's the power within that keeps me moving.

Bridge

I change along this road more than I ever knew,
Not just where I've been—but who I'm growing into.
I see now the summit isn't the end,
It's the becoming that happens within.
Purpose doesn't rush me, doesn't let me quit,
It stays when the climb asks everything.
And I stand stronger, clearer, true—
Because I follow the purpose living in me.

Final Chorus

Purpose is the heartbeat of who I am,
The reason I stand when I want to bend.
Purpose is the compass when the way feels unknown,
The voice that says, "Keep going—you're not alone."
I climb with intention, I climb with belief,
I climb becoming more with every step beneath my feet.
This journey shapes me, every fall, every win—
Purpose is the power within.

Outro

When the sun rises and the journey feels long,
I don't forget my summit song.
This life is a summit, a beautiful climb,
My purpose carries me forward—
It is the power within.
